

Meeting Planners Information

Introduction (To be spoken before the presentation)

You are lost and alone in the African jungle, with no food, no survival equipment, no shelter and wild animals all around. How would you cope?

That is exactly what happened to Gill Tree - alone for 5 long days and nights. Discover how her extraordinary experiences in the danger zone can encourage us all to step out of our comfort zones. What strengths, capabilities and skills do you possess that you don't even know you have?

Gill's truly inspiring story will encourage the hero inside you, to take a few steps forward.

Presentation Requirements

AV and room requirements

A lapel microphone is an absolute must. Gill tells her story in a very animated way and cannot hold a microphone or stand at a lecture.

A technician to play her introduction music and a public performance licence. (Most venues will have this.)

Powerpoint to project the It's jungle out there logo provide as a pdf

Room layout

Gill requires on stage a table for her props and a stool

Water

The room if possible should be laid out with the chairs arranged in a curve
